Aggies Near and Far	Our organizational aim is to create a podcast that amplifies the voices and experiences of Aggies who participate in global education. We interview professors and students doing research in other countries, international or visiting students and scholars, and students with diverse global backgrounds. We want these podcasts to be available online any time after they are released at an online home as yet to be determined. We will hope to use existing social media resources available to promote the podcast, for example in department newsletter emails, soundcloud, Facebook, and Instagram. Finally, we will have promotional events to raise awareness about the podcast and recruit students to be involved in the production process and create a sustainable production organization.	https://sites.google.com/view/aggies-near-and-far/	@aggies.near.far
American Red Cross Club	Established in 2004, we are a student-run, community service and healthcare based organization devoted to carrying out the American Red Cross mission statement: To prevent and alleviate human suffering in the face of emergencies by mobilizing the power of volunteers and the generosity of donors	https://sites.google.com/ucdavis.edu/arcc/home	@redcrossclubatucd on instagram
BPSHI Clinic	Bhagat Puran Singh Health Initiative (BPSHI) Clinic is a student run health initiative which seeks to improve the health of under-served and neglected communities, particularly the Sikh and Punjabi community. BPSHI was started as a collaborative effort of several students from UC Davis and Sacramento State who were motivated by Bhagat Puran Singh, a Sikh humanitarian who founded Pingalwara, a home for the disabled in Punjab, India. BPSHI started by performing health clinics at local Gurdwaras. Since then, BPSHI has expanded to include chapters at most major universities in California, and many other universities across the nation. The UC Davis BPSHI chapter, BPSHI Clinic, serves under-served communities in the Davis/Sacramento area. In addition to holding health screenings, BPSHI Clinic hosts seminars and workshops with medical professionals, assists uninsured individuals in obtaining insurance, provides rides and translation services for patients, and analyzes health trends in the target populations. In response to ever increasing demand and popularity, BPSHI Clinic partnered with Elaaj Clinic in Sacramento, to provide enhanced access to medical professionals and healthcare services for patients that would not be available at the mobile health screenings.	http://www.bpshi.org/	@BPSHIClinic on Instagram
California Public Interest Research Group, Davis Chapter	CALPIRG is a student run, student funded non-profit organization that works to educate students on campus about issues that effect them ranging from democracy to public health and the environment, and show them how they can get involved and make a difference on campus, in their community, and the world. Every year students draft, propose, and vote on campaigns they think are prevalent to work on, and recruit members to spread awareness and make real change for a better future.	https://calpirgstudents.org/chapters/uc-davis/	@calpirg_ucd on Instagram
Clinica Tepati at UC Davis SOM	Clínica Tepati operates under a three-part mission of healthcare, education, and advocacy. We provide essential healthcare services and health education to the underserved Latinx community. This inclusive environment fosters educational exchange between UC Davis undergraduates, UC Davis medical students, CNU medical students, UOP pharmacy students, and local healthcare professionals. Through first-hand clinical experiences, each student continues to grow into a conscientious and compassionate healthcare leader. Additionally, Clínica Tepati connects both patients and students with positive role models and mentors within healthcare. Finally, Clínica Tepati volunteers go beyond providing the standard of care by advocating for recent immigrant patients, serving as both linguistic and cultural interpreters. Clínica Tepati seeks to provide essential healthcare services to the underserved communities of Sacramento and its surrounding areas, including but not limited to health screening, health education, primary care, and patient advocacy. These services are delivered in an atmosphere appropriate for the needs of the patients in a multilingual/multicultural setting. Clínica Tepati strives to continue advocating for the necessary fundamental changes within our current healthcare system in order to provide equitable care for all.	https://clinatepati.com/	@clinatepati
Coalition for Health Equity Student Interest Group	The Coalition for Health Equity is a group of like-minded medical professional students and leaders that seeks to bring community, education, and action around social justice, health equity, and health access issues in the Sacramento area.	https://aggielife.ucdavis.edu/CHEq/	@coalitionhealthequity
Community Health Collective	Community Health Collective aims to partner with local organizations, including neighborhood soup kitchens and afterschool programs, to provide free health prevention and medical education services. We hope to serve as an access point for community members to receive free health screenings for hypertension, diabetes, colon cancer, and eye concerns as well as referrals to local student-run clinics for further health evaluations. Our goal is to increase access to healthcare, promote health empowerment within the Sacramento community, and provide medical students with opportunities to connect meaningfully with local community members.	https://aggielife.ucdavis.edu/CHC/	@communityhealthscholars_u cdh
El Club de Espanol Medico	El Club de Español Medico (El Club) seeks to enhance and generate interest in the importance of the Spanish language in the healthcare setting. Spanish is the second most spoken language in the world and the primary/native language for 11 million Californians. Many patients we will serve as future physicians in California use Spanish as the primary language to communicate. UCD seeks to train physicians that will serve our diverse communities, and in CA, the Spanish speaking Latino community is one of the biggest. El Club wants to welcome anyone interested in learning more about Latino culture, the Spanish language, and its people. Generating interest in medical Spanish is one of the first steps in trying to breach the disparities that exist when serving the latino community.	https://aggielife.ucdavis.edu/ElClub/	@prepmedico

Global Health Student Interest Group	The Global Health SIG provides a resource for medical students and NP/PA students interested in learning about global health issues and the development of potential solutions. In collaboration with Human Medicine, Nursing, Veterinary Medicine, Agriculture, Environmental Sciences, and International Development, the SIG emphasizes the interdisciplinary One Health approach developed to address the health of people, animals, and the environment. The group works closely with the Dean's office to host the monthly "Global Health Night" series where physicians, researchers, and experts in a variety of fields are invited to speak and lead discussions on topics related to global health. The group also hosts a symposium to introduce first year medical students to the variety of global health opportunities offered through the School of Medicine.	https://aggielife.ucdavis.edu/GlobalHealthsigatsom/	(Within School of Medicine)
Global Medical Brigades at UCD	Global Medical Brigades is a non-profit, student-led international medical experience to improve the health and well-being of under-served populations throughout the world. Founded on the principles of global health, solidarity, and empowerment, we provide health care and implement public health initiatives through in country medical clinics and public service activities in both Davis and the country we visit.	https://globalmedicalbrigadesatucd.weebly.com/about-us.html	@gmbatucdavis
Global Medical Training	GMT is a non-profit humanitarian organization for students interested in pursuing health professional careers that organizes free mobile clinics abroad in different Central American countries for underprivileged villages. GMT is a non-profit humanitarian organization for students interested in premedical, pre-pharmacy, pre-dental, and all other pre-health professions. We travel abroad to Central American countries such as Nicaragua, Panama, and the Dominican Republic where we hold free medical clinics for underprivileged villages. Unlike any other volunteer work, we provide hands on experience with patients as you learn basic clinical skills along with basic medical/dental knowledge and assist local doctors and dentists in providing free health care.	http://gmtatucd.weebly.com/	@ucdavisgmt
Global Perspectives Initiative	The Global Perspectives Initiative (GPI) is a student-alumni collective dedicated to advocating for curriculum reform in One Health courses. Drawing upon anti-racism, anti-colonialism, trauma-informed practices, ethnic studies, disability justice scholarship, and our own experiences, our innovative framework particularly explores three under-addressed themes: lived experiences, community engagement, and cultural humility. We recognize these themes as particularly relevant to One Health courses, and we understand that they have remained under-addressed in higher education, especially in STEM courses, for decades.	https://aggielife.ucdavis.edu/GPI/	@globalperspectivesinitiative
Health Equity Resources and Advocacy	Through community outreach based actions we aim to remove stigmas around many medical topics including mental health, reproductive health and more. We strive to help people deal with racial, psychological, financial, and gender based disparities within the healthcare system.	https://www.heradavis.org/home/	@ucd_hera
Hmong In Health	The purpose of HIH is to promote Hmong students to a career in health through pre-health conferences, workshops, and interactions with health professionals. Our goal is also to develop an awareness of Hmong medicine and culture among UCD students and the local community. Lastly, we want to establish a network among Hmong pre-health students at UCD and to provide academic support for our students.	https://hmonginhealth.wixsite.com/ucdhih	@ucdaivsgmonginhealth
Imani Clinic	Imani Clinic was the brainchild of UC Davis medical students in the Student National Medical Association (SNMA), an organization dedicated to improving outcomes--medical, academic, and social--among members of the African-American community. Ten years of planning, research, and negotiations were initiated because students became concerned about the staggering and persistent morbidity and mortality from hypertension, heart disease, cancer, and inadequate prenatal care among African-Americans. SNMA redoubled its efforts in light of the apparent demise of Health Care Reform, and the serious threat to universal access to health care posed by Proposition 187	https://www.imaniclinic.org/	@imaniclinic
International Relations Student Association	The International Relations Student Association (IRSA) at UC Davis is a student-run organization dedicated to fostering a deeper understanding of global affairs. We achieve this through a diverse range of activities, including guest lectures, panel discussions, and workshops that cover topics such as international diplomacy, global economics, and conflict resolution. IRSA also provides valuable networking opportunities, connecting members with professionals and experts in the field. Our resources page offers access to essential materials like research papers and career advice, supporting members' academic and professional growth. By building a vibrant community of students passionate about international relations, we aim to enhance global awareness and prepare future leaders for careers in diplomacy, international development, and related fields.	https://irsa-ucd.weebly.com/	@irsa_at_ucdavis

Knights Landing One Health Center at UC Davis SOM	The Knights Landing One Health Center, Medical Clinic aims to provide linguistically competent and culturally humble healthcare services to the rural underserved in the Knights Landing area. We seek to fill the gap in primary care services and health education, with particular emphasis on women, adolescents, and farm workers. Our goal is to provide community-centered care by maintaining a high level of community engagement and empowerment, and by continuing to collaborate with other organizations. We are striving to develop a One Health model, linking human, animal, and environmental health. We are also providing learning opportunities for undergraduate, graduate, and medical students in rural health, nurturing their growth as community leaders and advocates.	https://aggielife.ucdavis.edu/KLOHCSOM/	@knightslandingclinic
Manos en Medicina	At Manos en Medicina, we are dedicated to cultivating a supportive and inclusive community for Chicana/o/x individuals passionate about pursuing careers in medicine. Our mission is to empower our members by providing resources, mentorship, and networking opportunities that foster professional growth and success. We aim to destigmatize our presence in the medical field by celebrating our unique cultural heritage and advocating for diversity in healthcare. Through outreach and community engagement, we strive to give back to our communities, inspiring the next generation of Chicana/o/x leaders in medicine.	https://aggielife.ucdavis.edu/MeM/	@manosenmedicinadavis
Morning Sign Out at UC Davis	A student organization at UC Davis that aims to improve public health and health literacy via the publication of online science articles. In addition to the publications, MSO also strives to provide undergraduate students with various opportunities that will help them develop the necessary skills to be successful as future health and science professionals.	https://msoatucd.weebly.com/	@msoatucd on Instagram
Nishkam Sewa	Nishkam Sewa was founded with the Sikh tenant of Sewa (selfless service) in mind. We have joined hands with the international non-profit, Nishkam Sikh Welfare Council, to serve our global and local communities. As a student-founded chapter, we have taken the responsibility to raise funds from the California Sikh population and to contribute to India based projects involving scholarships, education, healthcare, housing, and so much more. With the resources we have available as UC Davis undergraduates, we aim to spread the mission of Nishkam Sikh Welfare Council so that more funds can be raised and donors join hands to keep the projects going. We will work to establish a strong team of leaders who can educate others about this non-profit and the population in need. Furthermore, we are mobilizing the local and global populations with health education materials. Finally, we want to provide an opportunity for students to do local service in the community	http://nishkamsewaatucd.org/	@nishkamsewaucd
Partners in Health Engage at UC Davis	By working in collaboration with Partners In Health, a global health and social justice nonprofit that provides care in some of the world's most impoverished places, we aim to bring attention to the global disparity in access to health care and push for global change.	https://aggielife.ucdavis.edu/PIHE/
